

Group Report Intro

- -Greetings
  - Good day everyone. I am ...
  - I hope that this will be an effective learning for all of us
- -Thanks
  - Thank you everyone for being here, ma'am Leah Madrid and my classmates
- -Past topic recap
  - So in the last topic we learned about the basic concepts: norms and values
  - Anyone, what was the most memorable from the last topic?
- -lesson title
  - I will report Deviance, Social Control, and Sanctions
- -current topic
  - Now we will tackle Deviance, which is doing against the norms
  - Anyone who can give one example of deviance?
  - We will also tackle what are the ways people are controlled by society, also known as Social Controls, and lastly about the sanctions, which are the penalties for deviance
- -examples relating to current topic
  - As an example, we have Jaywalking: Who here still do it? Doing it is deviance
  - Anyone can give their personal experience?
- -current topic relation to past topic
  - Deviance is another important notion we have to learn to understand our society. Because like Values and Norms, we commonly see deviance, especially minor deviance, like farting in public, which may make other people feel uncomfortable
- -position (what you want to put in their heart)
  - Learning deviance and ways it is controlled, will help you look at society with additional perspectives, like there are many kinds of deviance depending on societal level, like how norms differ for home and school.
- -goals
  - At the end of this, I hope that you will be able to see society in terms of deviance, social control and sanctions in it, added to what you already know, which are the concepts with norms and values
- -overview
  - I will start by discussing deviance, its definition, its types, its causes, and theories about why and how things becomes deviant.
  - After deviance, we will discuss how we can prevent or control them, and about controlling them especially with sanctions or violation penalties
- -discussion
